REDISTRICTING FIGHT WON BY DELEGATION FROM SOUTH OF STATE

McKinley Bill Passage Gives Control To Southern Faction; Gives South Eleven Congressmen

San Mateo county's hope of improving its representation in congress by sharing one congressman with San Francisno instead of being linked as in the past with Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, and San Bento counties, failed of consumation this week when the senate and assembly both gave favorable balances to the McKinley measure of re-apportionment. This will leave San Mateo in the eight district.

Passage, says a United Press dispatch, of the two reapportionment bills of Senator J. W. McKinley, Los Angeles, provided an immediate solution of the legislature's most troublesome problem, and gave a sweeping victory to the south.

The Southern California forces yesterday morning bluntly refused to consider a request from a San Francisco delegation for a change of assembly and congressional lines in San Francisco county.

In the face of almost certain passage of the McKinley redistricting bills, giving Los Angeles eight congressmen and 30 assemblymen, the San Francisco delegation, headed by Assemblyman William B. Hornblower, asked permission to amend the bills so that the districts in San Franlisco would be satisfaltory to them.

"Sorry," replied Assemblyman Walter J. Little for the Los Angeles geles delegation, "it will be impossible to concede your request."

The assembly lines, Hornblower charged, were drawn without the knowledge of the 12 assemblymen from San Francisco. Efforts to discover who outlined them for the McKinley bill failed.

In all instances the new districts are unsatisfactory, and the San Francisco lawmakers are "fighting mad" about it. Every overture made by Hornblower, even the suggestion that Assemblyman Little name the members to sit in on the free conference, were promptly turned down.

Under terms of this measure southern California, with 41 of the 80 members of the assembly, gains positive control of the lower house, while the San Francisco delegation has threatened a referendum and plans were being made to force Governor Rolph into vetoing the measure, it is believed the bills will withstand any attempts at reprisal by the colleagues of Speaker Edgar C. Levey, San Francisco.

While the budget bill is expected to face additional opposition on the floor of the senate, the action of the finance committee will enable immediate consideration and open the way for the disposition of the $43,000,000 in "pork barrel" bills which are clogging the legislative files.

Flood Will Hearing Up to Judge Buck

Two motions were taken under advisement by Judge George H. Buck yesterday in the Flood will contest. One was by council for Mrs. May Gavin, contesting heir, asking that Mrs. Gavin be allowed to enter a second amended affidavit naming both Mrs. Rosina Flood and Mrs. Eudora Willette as her mother. The other was by council for the Flood estate asking that a date be set for trial. Hearing on the two matters concerning the Flood fortune occupied the court all yesterday afternoon.

He was given first aid treatment by Dr. J. N. Blood, and then removed to the Mills hospital where he is now being cared for. The boy was at the plant waiting to go ployed at the Towne garage. He is the son of David Litz, who is emhome with his father when the fire occurred.

Motorist Robbed By Hitch-Hiker

Man Given Ride, Draws Gun And Takes $25 From Driver

For the second time in two weeks a motorist has been robbed in this county by a hitch-hiker, whom he had picked up. This time the victim was Sergeant B. G. Sherman, U. S. A., who is stationed at Angel Island

Sergeant Sherman gave the man a lift from Daly City to Burlingame. In the latter city the man drew a gun, and demanded that Sherman hand over his money. He took about $25. The bandit looked at Sherman's watch, and then handed it back to the owner. Near the Burlingame gates the bandit ordered Sherman to stop the car, and he got out and escaped.

Sherman described the bandit as about 24, of medium height, weighing 165 pounds, sleek black hair, fair complexion, wearing a blue vest sweater, dirty corduroy trousers, and a dirty slouch hat. The robber spoke with a decided Latin accent, acording to Sherman.

Fireman's Death Result of Heart Attack in Ocean

Man Who Died After Swim To Shore Not Drowned Inquest Finds

The death of Andrew Merlo, San Francisco fireman, who died in the ocean off Pedro Point Monday, was due to a heart attack, and not to drowing, as was at first believed This fact was brought out at an inquest into the death of the San Francisco man held at the parlors of Deputy Coroner Luella Peppers at Daly City on Wednesday.

Merlo, with three companions, had been fishing in a small boat off the point. A big wave swamped the boat and the four men were forced to swim ashore. Merlo was the first to reach the beach, but just as he was wading ashore he fell backward into the water. His companions believed him to be drowned and worked for two hours in an effort to revive him.

It was stated at the inquest that Merlo had been injured in an accident some time ago, and had been left in a weakened condition. The strain of swimming ashore brought on a heart attack which resulted in his death.

Funeral services were held yesterday in San Francisco, and were conducted by the American Legion. Interment was in the Italian cemetery at Colma. Merlo was 38 years of age and unmarried.

Fiesta de las Rosas Historical Pageant

SAN JOSE, April 16—The grand floral parade ,outstanding event of the Santa Clara County Fiesta de las Rosas, in which nearly 74 flower-draped floats will be seen, will be held in San Jose on Saturday afternoon, May 16, at 2:30 o'clock, Fiesta directors announced at a recent meeting.

Spurred evidently by the spirit of California Fiesta Year, more interest is shown in the Fiesta this year by the county people than has been evidenced in the five years of the event, directors declare.

More than half the floats desired for the parade are already signed up and the event is still a month away. Nearly two score bands and drum corps and unusual features have also indicated their desire to be a part of the parade.

One of the greatest crowds to ever attend a California parade is anticipated as the Fiesta is one of three complete floral parades in the west. The parade route, which is four miles long, forms excellent accommodations for a half-million spectators.

Athletic events, which include a golf tournament at Hillview Club in San Jose, are new on the program this year. Wrestling, boxing, a state bowling tournament, kite fighting, swimming, bicycling and similar events are included by the Fiesta - Junior Chamber Athletic Committee which is handling the sports.

The baby parade, in which 150 children are expected to ride in flower decorated floats, will be held on the afternoon of May 15 in San Jose. Babies from San Mateo, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Santa Clara, Lower Alameda and Monterey counties are invited to enter. Beauty and health prizes will be awarded in four classes under four-years-old. four-years-old.

Miss L. Johnson Recovering from Auto Accident

Miss Lois Johnson, secretary to County Purchasing Agent E. H. Werder, is rapidly recovering at her home on Duane street from injuries received in an automobile accident last Saturday evening. Miss Johnson with Miss Lillian Gato of Burlingame was driving in her car to visit friends in Half Moon Bay early in the evening, when just the other side of the summit the machine skidded on a turn, crashed into a culvert and overturned.

Miss Johnson was pinned beneath the car and her companion was thrown clear. Passing autoists came to the rescue of the young ladies and took them to the Mills Memorial hospital, where at first it was thought that Miss Johnson's injuries were serious. X-ray examinations, however, showed that no bones were broken and that she was suffering only from a severe cut in the head and cuts and bruises about the body. Miss Gato escaped with a gash in the nose, and was able to return to her home Saturday evening. Miss Johnson returned home Sunday.

Grade Crossings In State Claim 170 Lives in 1930

Three Persons Killed in San Mateo County During Past Year

By MELVIN LORD

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Apr. 16 (UP)—A total of 170 persons were killed in California in 1930 trying to beat trains to crossings—and failing.

Grade crossing accidents during 1930 totaled 2,455 as compared to 2,723 in 1929, a decrease of 9.8 per cent according to a report filed with the railroad commission by J. G. Hunter, transportation engineer.

In addition to the deaths ,the accidents were responsible for the injury of 767 persons, as compared with 896 for 1929.

There were 25 such accidents in San Mateo county last year, in which three persons were killed and six injured.

Steam and electric railroads operating in California reported to the railroad commission 343 less accidnets, due to operation, in 1930 than during 1929, with 26 fewer fatalities and 338 less injured.

The real index to the improvement in the safety of train operation in the state is furnished by the statistics showing the relation of train accidents to total man hours employed in the operation of trains for the two years. The casualties per million man hours in 1930 were 26.89, as against 34.98 in 1929, a decrease of 23.13 per cent.

The encouraging decrease in the number of grade crossing accidents is seen as a direct result of educational campaigns and the elimination of grade crossings by the state highway commission.

Summer Cottage Razed by Fire At Emerald Lake

Redwood Firemen Prevent Spread of Flames to Other Property

A four-room summer cottage in the upper Emerald Lake district, owned by J. H. Hamplin of San Francisco, was completely destroyed by fire shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday night. The Redwood City fire department, summoned by a telephone call, was handicapped by lack of water and the members confined their engeries to preventing spread of the flames to adjoining buildings. Some furniture in the cottage was lost. The cost is estimated at $2000.

The family had left Tuesday afternoon after a week-end stay at the cottage.

Bumping of Car Leads To Arrest

It's not the safest thing in the world to go about driving one's car into parked machines, but when the parked machine is one that has been stopped by two traffic officers who are engaged in writing out a ticket for the driver, then it becomes more than ever unlucky.

Eddy Arvola, 30, a laborer of San Francisco, realized this after a brief brush with Officers Rinkle and Walzberg of the traffic patrol which ended in a complete decision for the traffic officers and jail for Arvola.

The two officers had stopped a machine for speeding on the Bay Shore highway, and were writing out a citation for the driver of the speeding car. Then Arvola swung around the corner at a high speed and sideswiped the parked car. After that he drove off.

The two officers gave chase and after a race of about two miles caught up with Arvola. The latter said that he did not know that he had hit the other car, and any way no one was hurt. If anyone had been hurt, Arovla said he would have stopped. Arvola was brought to the jail here charged with driving while drunk and with failure to stop after an accident. His bail was set at $500 cash or $1000 bonds. He was in jail yesterday in lieu of the bail.

YOMECAN CLUB PLANS PET AND HOBBY SHOW

Thirteen silver trophy cups, two airplane rides, 240 of the finest grade show ribbons, and many articles of special use to those who have pets were announced as the prizes for the Pet and Hobby Show which is being put on by the Yomecan Club with the splendid cooperation of the Redwood City Humane Society, on April 25. A full report of the progress was given at the meeting of the Yomecans Wednesday evening and according to the interest which is being shown by the children of Redwood City and the vicinity this affair will be one of the finest of its kind to be held on the peninsula.

Harold ("Andy") Anderson told of the progress in flying. He explained the care that is being given by the government in the licensing of pilots and airplanes. According to Anderson there are now 15,000 licensed pilots and 15,000 licensed student pilots in the U. S. with California surpassing all other states. An explanation of how the government safeguards the airplanes on the air lanes was very interesting.

Mrs. J. E. Ryan and Miss Viola Maysenhelder made a report on the work which the Humane Society had accomplished in connection with the Pet and Hobby Show and the work of the Humane Society in general.

Wesley Haydock was chairman of the meeting.

The meeting of the club this coming week will be held on Thursday evening at 6:30 p. m. instead of on Wednesday so that the club may go in a body to participate in the Public Schools program which will be held at McKinley school.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR WILLIAM J. SAVAGE WELL-KNOWN TEACHER

Member of Board of Education Here Since 1893; Son of Pioneer Family of San Mateo Coastside

Funeral services will be held this morning from the chapel of W. C. Laswell, of Daly City, for W. J. Savage, well-known educator of San Mateo county, who passed away suddenly at his home in Daly City late last Tuesday as the result of a heart attack. The service at the chapel will be followed by a requim high mass at the church of Our Lady of the Perpetual Help. Services at the undertaking parlor are to begin at 8:45 and mass will start at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in the Catholic cemetery at Half Moon Bay.

William Savage was one of the pioneer teachers of this county and was supervisoring principal of the Jefferson school district. He has been a member of the board of education of San Mateo county for the past 38 years, and during most of that time has been chairman of the board.

In a book prepared by Roy W. Cloud, at that time supervising principal of the Redwood City schools, but now state secretary of the California Teachers Association the following biography of William Savage occurs:

"William Savage was born in San Francisco, California on the first day of January, 1867, and the first three years of his life were spent on his father's farm at San Gregorio, while the four following years were spent at Purissima, where he began to attend school. Prior to that, however, he had been taught by his mother to spell and read through the third reader. The family lived at Halfmoon Bay from 1874 to 1887, and he attended the Pilarcitas school from 1878 to 1882, the remainder of his education being received at the Halfmoon Bay school, where he obtained a teacher's certificate by taking the county examination in December 1885, in which year also he gained a reputation as a debator in the Lobitos Lyceum of Self Control. In 1887, when but 20 years of age, Mr. Savage became principal of the Menlo Park schools, holding that position for two years, after which he was for four years at the Laguna school, three and a half years at the Pomponio school, and then for a year and a half was editor of a country newspaper. In 1897 he was a teacher in the Sheridan school at Mission San Jose, after which for 2 years he was the principal of the Jefferson at Colma, and in 1918 was made district superintendent of the Jefferson district, which position he was very acceptably filled to the present time. He has fully measured up to all the requirements of the position which he held and he stands in the forefront of the educational circles of San Mateo county, being widly recognized as an able, consciencious educator.

"Through his professional duties made large demands on his time, Mr. Savage has also had other business interests and has been successful in his material affairs. In 1890 he helped to build the Halfmoon Bay Creamery and in 1897 aided in organizing the Pilaricitas Oil Co., but neither was a paying proposition. In 1907 he organized the Colma Hall and Building Association, which also proved an unsuccessful venture, but in 1909 he started a private building and loan business, which met with unusual success. He was stockholder in the Colma branch of the Bank of Italy and a member and secretary of the advisory board of that institution. During the World War Mr. Savage took an active part in supporting all local war measures, and was particularly effective in selling war saving stamps and Liberty bonds. In 1888 Mr. Savage was a candidate for county clerk and recorder, but was defeated by John F. Johnston. He has been a member of the county board of education continuously since 1893, a period of 34 years. In his political views Mr. Savage is a democrat, and has been an active worker in behalf of his party since he attained his majority. He was closely identified with the public career of supervisors Joseph Debenetti, Joseph Francis and James T. Casey. He has enjoyed politics and has never hesitated to make personal sacrifices in order to help his party and his friends. In 1886 he became a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West, and is also a member of the Foresters of America, the United Ancient Order of Druids, the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and the Benovolent Protective Order of Elks, in all of which he has passed through the chairs. He has never been a club man, but from 1900 to 1920 was a leader in the social affairs in the northern part of the county, frequently serving as toastmaster at dinners and banquets.

"He was reared in the faith of the Roman Catholic church by his mother, who was deeply religious, and he never departed from that faith, being a regular attendant at St. Maximus church in Daily City. He is broad in his views, holding to the belief that all churches are good and helpful to the community and the individual, regardless of denomination or creed. Mr. Savage is the author of a book, "Foreward Looking Lessons in United States History," published first in 1919 and now in the fifth edition, and which is used in all the public schools of California. A gentleman of scholarly tastes and studious habits, keeping abrest of the times in advanced educational methods, Mr. Savages' work as an educator has given him a distinctive place among the professional men of San Mateo county and wherever known he commands uniform confidence and respect, while socially, he is deservidly popular among his associates."

In addition to the fraternal orders mentioned above, Professor Savage was a member of Knights of Columbus Council, No. 2712, Daly City.

He was a brother of Robert D. and James T. Savage and of Mrs. Mary Westkamper.

Three Plays To Be Presented by H. S. Students

Rehearsals are now in progress for the presentation of the group of spring plays to be presented April 24 at 8:15 in the high school auditorium under the direction of Claude van Patten, dramatic coach.

The plan of having three one-act plays in place of the usual long one is new this year. By reason of this change opportunity is given for students who have never acted to try their skill. Many names new to drama in Sequoia appear on the lists of casts because of the change, according to those in charge.

Variety in theme and setting are evident in the plays to be presented. Thrills of a dashing duel portrayal of one's inner self as an individual, lovely colonial costumes will mark the productions.

A duel fought because of a woman lends a realistic scene to the first drama, "Jazz and Minuet," a beautiful romance of two centuries. The students participating are practicing diligently under the direction of a Stanford University student. Colonial costumes aid in making this play especially attractive, it is reported.

The second play, an interlude from Shakespeare, is being produced in the style of the Elizabethan theatre. The cast is composed entirely of freshmen and sophomores.

The third one in the group is "Overtones," a psychological play with a cast of girls. The story is one of the dual life everyone lives This play is to be interpreted along novel lines using pantomime.

Talk on Bacteria Given Exchange

Members of the Redwood City Exchange Club were given an interesting talk on bacteriology by Dr. Ralph Howe, of this city. Dr. Howe spoke in the stead of Dr. Charles Shepard, Stanford University medical director, who was scheduled to be at the meeting, but was not able to be present. The chairman of the meeting was Alfred Robinson.

A short talk on the work of the Humane Society was given by Miss Viola Maysenhalder in behalf of the pet and hobby show which is to be staged next week by the Humane Society in connection with the Yomecan Club.

Tossing Away Wisdom Gathered by the Ages

Some day the Chinese may be sorry they permitted the burning of the last complete set of the Chinese Buddhist classics, which the Educational Board of Shantung has destroyed because the 50,000 volumes were "too bulky and out of tune with modern knowledge." It is the fashion of a people who have just committed themselves to new notions to scorn all that has gone before. But the time comes when they discover that their new ideas have no other foundation than the old.

In like fashion the destruction of the great library at Alexandria has been a matter of deep regret for nearly 1300 years. When the Arab General 'Amr took Alexandria in 640 A. D., in the course of the new Islam's triumphant career of conquest, earnest pleas were made to him to preserve the library's 700,000 volumes, the greatest existing collection of the learning of antiquity.

The question was submitted to the Caliph Omar, who returned the famous answer, so like in spirit to that of the Shantung Educational Board, "If the books disagree with the Koran they are evil; if they agree with it they are unnecessary; let them be destroyed." For six months the priceless volumes fed the furnaces of the public baths of Alexandria.

Even fanatic Mohammedans now know Omar inflicted great loss on the world, extinction of knowledge and wisdom accumulated through ages of experience. On a smaller scale the Shantung Chinese seem to have done the same thing.—S. F. Chronicle.

Perhaps the most tragic words in the whole blood-drenched chronicle of the conqueror Cortez are "we burned the books." Cortez, like Omar of old, destroyed the wisdom of ages when he burned the books of the Maya nation. Books which told of the history of the Mayas back thousands of years, and which, did we possess them today, would throw light onto the origin of the American race, where now all is supposition. But in all ages the wisdom of the past is lightly esteemed by the smug self-importance of the present, and ignorant English farmers still tear down temples of a vanished race to build fences around pig pens; temples which link Britain with the same Mayas whose books were burned by the Spaniard, and with Egypt, which fell under the sword of Omar.

Fifty Million Hands Go To School

Parents of school children all over the country should be grateful to Cleanliness Institute for calling attention, as it recently did, to the importance of adequate handwashing facilities and practices in the schools of all grades. Fifty million hands go to school every day in the United States. Fifty million eager hands of boys and girls busy and dirty themselves daily with textbooks, pencils, paper, maps, chalk and erasers. And at luncheon time fifty million hands carry food to 25,000,000 hungry mouths.

The studies made by Cleanliness Institute show that the majority of those childish hands go unwashed throughout the school day, at meal times as well as at other intervals. The reasons for this are various but can be put under the two general heads of inadequate supplies of water, soap and towels, and of inadequate supervision and encouragement on the part of instructors who do not realize the possible relationships between germ-laden hands and communicable disease. Health statistics indicate that the mouth and nose are the gateways through which there enter and leave the human body the micro-organisms which cause 92 out of every 100 deaths from communicable disease—sufficient reason for the absolute cleanliness of hands which travel constantly to these important facial doorways.

It is too soon to prophesy the general reaction to the findings of this handwashing study, but it seems inevitable that conscientious school boards, teacher groups and parents will scrutinize the provisions made for the children under their care. In a matter that is so vital to health as well as to good manners and self-respect, let us hope that it will need little more than a comprehension of the neglect to awaken a public and private response. Certainly the school officials and the parents of this country would do well to acquaint themselves with the handwashing facilities and practices in the schools in their own communities.

The quail appears to be a favorite for the place of California's state bird. Well, just so long as those Los Angeles promoters don't insist upon the lyre bird.

"Feed the Brute"

Lecturing at the Cookery Exhibition held recently in London, Doctor Josiah Oldfield uttered a "mouthful" when he declared that the nagging nervous wives and the raging irritable husbands are "all a question of diet." If the human animal is properly fed, he or she is likely to be amiable and easy-going. Which gets back to the old saying, "a man's heart is reached through his stomach."

While there is nothing new in this theory Doctor Oldfield offers a new and more specific variation applicable to quarreling couples. "If every wife who suffers from her husband's ungovernable anger, could have him put on a three-months' cure, where fasting could be alternated with carrots, salads, cornmeal porridge and plenty of milk, he would return to her with increased generosity and reduced ferocity." He might have gone further and suggested a thirty-day layoff from tea and coffee. With some high-class domestic diplomacy added, friend husband might emerge with rested nerves and improved digestion and enjoy the experience well enough to try it some more.

A little of the same beverage care added to the doctor's prescription for the wife of three months' rest and diet of cream, honey and raisins, should, according to Doctor Oldfield, make her docile and angelic. But to keep her human, an occasional pickle or tomato would add useful tang to her disposition, just enough to keep him interested. Incidently she would be adding valuable vitamins and carbohydrates, and promoting her digestion.

Another Relativity Theory

A current news report tells us that King Prajadhipok of Siam must never see one of his subjects standing. All must appear before him on their knees, and enter and leave the royal presence on their knees. Well, it's hard to believe, but no doubt true. Then we stop to wonder what good end it can serve even to his majesty of the funny name.

King Prajadhipok, we understand, is an undersized person, about equal in stature to a boy. This may account for his insistance on the custom. No doubt, since all his subjects must be on their knees when in his presence, he feels himself a veritable giant among them, towering above the rest of his nation. Well, according to Prof. Einstein, every thing is relative, and if King "Prajy" can keep everyone on their knees it's probably just as good as being big himself.

Small minds are embued with the same characteristics as small bodies and many a person, aware of their own deficiences, shares the philosophy of the Siam kingette. They enjoy seeing others whom they envy abased by fate. It is only a small mind which could tolerate seeing his fellow man walking on his knees before him, and only a small mind which enjoys seeing another fall into misfortune so that his own importance is raised "relatively."

After all man should not judge himself relative to those less fortunate than himself, when there is so much in the universe which he does not and cannot understand, for as Abert Pike has said our endeavor should be not to be better than our neighbor but better than ourselves.

The Demon Rum

An interesting fact published by the Smithsonian Institute is the fact that scientists from the institution were desirous of capturing alive a number of iguanas, giant lizards which live in the Hawaiian Islands. The lizards were captured by placing rum in hollow rocks. The reptiles showed a fondness for the liquor and became intoxicated when they fell an easy prey to their captors.

We never knew before that iguanas possessed such human intelligence.

"Don't fall into the fallacy of expecting the wage earner to bear the brunt of readjustment. Talk of drastic slashes in American living standards borders closely on lunacy," declared Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, in a recent radio address.

Recently at Detroit there was demonstrated a glorified typewriter by which messages may be radioed from distant points to any number of receiving stations simultaneously. By it, the assertion is made, news stories may be sent direct into the homes of all in possession of the new invention.

If you can remember only one date in history, says a prominent historian, let it be April 23. This anniversary, according to the Woman's Home Companion, ought to be the best known date in history for its universal and international importance. It is the birth of William Shakespeare, whose life left a permanent mark upon the civilization of the world beyond that made by any other single human being of modern times.

'GAY ADVENTURERS'

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

SHEILA ALLEN, bound for Europe in a tourist cabin, has a cabinmate.

CONSTANCE KERR, a millionaire's daughter, who is her twin in looks. Sheila, after years in a rural town, is seeking adventure.

She has refused to marry her guardian, YOUNG DOCTOR MALCOM BAXTER. Constance tells Sheila she is Heaven-sent-a means of escape from a terrible mess.

The Pampered Heiress

For a moment Sheila thought Constance Kerr was joking, and she laughed, a little ruefully:

"I'm afraid I can't see what possible assistance I could ever be to you, Miss Kerr."

"Can't you? .....Well, look in the mirrow," was the cool reply. Miss Kerr pusned aside the litter of articles on her berth with an impatient: "It's a beastly nuisance, being without a maid," she swung herself up to lie full length on the course counterpane. Her feet rested on a blanket labeled: "S. S. Macedonia." They were pretty feet, shod in high-heeled bronze sandals. They made Sheila painfully conscious of her own neat black pumps.

The other girl continued: "I'm in the dickens of a mess, if you want to know it. . . . I wonder how far I can trust you?. . . . Suppose you tell me a little about yourself."

The command was so cool, so preemptory, and yet it lacked offense. Sheila began to sense, behind the other girl's apparent arrogance, an uneasiness that was akin to fear. She felt that this was not Constance Kerr, spoiled heiress, speaking to nondescript little Sheila Allen, but one woman appealing to another.

So she told the little there was to tell about herself, quite frankly. She had nothing to conceal, and, in this respect, though she didn't know it at the time, she was in a vastly better position than Constance Kerr.

When she had finished, Constance nodded, as if satisfied.

"My dear, you were made to order. . . .You don't know any one in Paris? You've never been there?

"Never — unfortunately."

Constance made an impatient gesture.

'Don't be silly. Paris is horribly overrated."

"Please don't spoil my illusions," begged Sheila, laughingly.

"Good Heavens, have you got those things yet?. . . . And you said you were twenty-three. I'm only twenty-five myself, but I look thirty-five, and I feel forty, just at present, and I can't even remember when I had an illusion."

She reflected on this for some time, and then added: "Yes, I do remember, and I did have one. But it got busted, and that's why—"

She sat up abruptly. "Please close the door," she bade Sheila.

When Sheila had complied, she said: "Now listen. I'm going to tell you what I'm up against, and, after I've finished, if you refuse to help me, I still want your word of honor that you won't give away my confidences to a soul."

"I was married at ten o'clock this morning to the Count de Bellefonte!"

"Oh!" gasped Sheila. "My — I wish you great happiness." Her eyes roved round the cabin, as if searching for the count. She began to wonder if she had fallen asleep in the old rocker beside Cousin Dora's bed, as she had done many a night, and were dreaming all this. Kerr heiresses and counts and ocean voyages!

"Don't be stupid and conventional. I'm not!. . . . I left him half an hour afterward."

She laughed at Sheila's look of complete bewilderment. "You wonder why, don't you? If you've ever heard of me before, I dare say you know that our engagement has been rumored for the past three months, and twice we were reported married. . . . .I'll tell you why — it's because I'm terribly in love with another man."

"Then why didn't you marry him?" asked Sheila practically.

"Ah, that's the story." Miss Kerr returned to her supine position in the berth and regarded the ceiling for awhile. . . . . Finally she said, musingly, as if she were speaking to herself, and not to Sheila: "I don't think the reporters will get the story of my marriage, or that anybody else can find out about it. Because I gave my name as Eugenia Kerr——it's a middle name that nobody knows I possess——and he is Jean LaFarge on the register—that's the Bellefonte family name."

Sheila asked meekly: "If you didn't want anybody to know it, and you didn't want to stay with him, why did you get married?"

Constance Kerr perked herself upright. "Oh, please, don't ask silly questions. Why does anybody do foolish things on the spur of the moment? If you could answer that, you'd be a female Solomon. Why am I on this boat, for instance, in this wretched little cabin, when I ought to be on my father's yacht? Why is the Count de Bellefonte sitting in a hotel in New York, waiting for his bride to show up? Why is Harry Edmonds——" She flung herself back on the pillows and lapsed into silence.

Shelia's nursing experience prompted her to say: "You're terribly nervous, Miss Kerr. Let me get you a glass of water. Have you any aromatic spirits in your bag?"

"No," was the weary reply. "I'll just lie here for a few moments and rest."

Sheila busied herself with unpacking, and Constance Kerr watched her shrewdly, noting the trimness and the immaculate daintiness of her simply possessions. If she'd had a moment's misgiving for her hasty confidences to a total stranger—confidences born of terror, repentance, wild hope. . . . .it was lulled to rest by the sight of Sheila, her actions and her belongings. She was so obviously what she purported to be — a nice girl, on tiptoe with youth, health, and a desire to see the world

When Sheila had finished her task, Constance began at the beginning of her story. She told it so well that Sheila saw it — not in Constance's words — but scene by scene, as it had all happened.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 15—(UP)—Story conferences have been story conferences ever since the first movie studio came to Hollywood, but every once in a while one crops up of more than usual interest.

The movie public generally is aware that the Board of Census, a rather intangible boggy that frightens the producers and the directors, recently decreed that cows in the animated cartoons should be entirely removed from the dairy business.

The pen and ink boys, who draw Mickey Mouse, Oswald the Rabbit, and the other talking cartoon characters, were in a very sad state of mind for some time afterward.

Walter Lantz, creator of Oswald, called a story conference to determine just what steps should be taken.

Hundreds of sketches were submitted and paper littered the floor.

Finally Lantz hit upon an idea. He attired Madame Cow in a Mother Hubbard frock. Her part in the picutre was to run down a railroad track.

But Bossy found difficulty running in a Mother Hubbard and the artists became tired of drawing the bulky dress.

Finally, when the comic strip was about half finished. Lantz threw up his hands and moaned: "What will we do?"

"Oh, let a train hit her," said one of his disgusted assistants.

Then——just about the time the assistant was prepared to laugh at his own remark—Lantz surprised the group.

"Swell idea," he declared. "Change the script. Draw a train We'll end this whole thing in the next scene."

And the cow, a hapless sacrifice to fashion, was just a bit too slow in leaping from the track in the next scene.

Five years ago the big ambition of Gary Cooper was to make a pile of quick money and retire to a castle in Italy to spend quiet days in dreaming, or in pursuit of pleasure in a feudal atmosphere.

The tall, lanky Montana actor at that time was making his first bid for fame in a supporting role to Vilma Banky in "The Winning of Barbara Worth." He wasn't quite sure what the future held for him and admitted that he was praying for a bit of luck to throw a fortune in his direction.

Then—just watch him duck out of Hollywood for Italy never to return.

Recalling this dream of Cooper's the other day, the actor was located out at Paramount.

"Do you remember back in the Barbara Worth days that threat to embark for an Italian castle as soon as you made your pile?" he was asked.

Cooper looked puzzled for a moment and then smiled:

"Yes, I do remember it now," he said. "Come to think of it, I maintain it was a good idea. But it's all over now."

"All over? How come?"

"Too many interests over here," replied Cooper. "I keep plenty busy in pictures and then there is my ranch in Montana. I have plenty to think about without taking in Italy to boot."

"And the money keeps rolling in?"

"Well, I'm not doing so bad—but I work for what I get."

BUILDERS OF CALIFORNIA

Joe and his shovel weren't noticed from the Club Car

THE speeding Limited fairly sang over Joe's well-kept "section." But passengers, lolling in lazy luxury, did not notice the shovel-gang, standing beside the track.

Yet this section gang is part of a vast organization of 52,000 workers—whose efficiency enables the railroads of California to transport 40 million passengers and 52 million tons of freight annually.

To pay this army of California workers $95,000,000 in annual wages, and to meet other operation costs, money received from the sale of tickets and collection of freight charges must be accumulated in the banks of the state.

Railroad officials and station agents must have quick access to sound, convenient banking facilities . . . Bank of America enjoys the privilege of serving railroads in nearly every one of the 243 cities where its 415 branches are located.

Moreover, no less than 13,000 railroad employes have savings or checking accounts with this Bank.

The same unique facilities which have made Bank of America the choice of railroads and their employes may offer distinct advantages to you. . . . . .

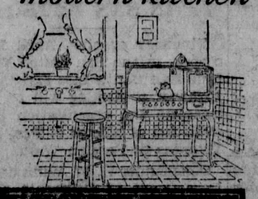
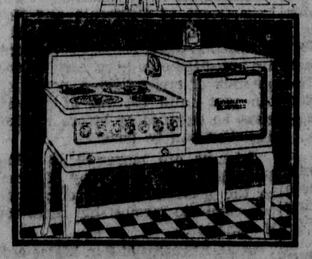
To keep a wife young and happy

....give her a modern kitchen





Cook with Electricity —the modern way

Many wives spend long hours in a kitchen through whose single window the sun seldom shines.

After a few years of such monotony, is it any wonder that wives lose their good nature?

The electric range is famous for giving women more hours of leisure—to form social contacts or to be spent in the sunshine. For the electric range cooks automatically. Simply prepare the food—place it in the oven—set the controls and go your way. When you return, hours later, the meal is perfectly done—hot—and ready to serve.

Electric cooking is speedy because of the new cooking elements. As for cost of operation—that averages about 1c per meal per person. The cost of the electric range itself is no more than that of any other good range.

A small payment down will place the electric range of your choice in your kitchen, ready to use. Come into our office or a dealer's store and see the beautiful new electric ranges.

Mrs. Loava Meyers, nee Carter, who has been here from Honolulu for some time on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Carter, will depart in a short time for avocado land.

Grand Trustee Shortridge and about twenty members of Menlo Parlor N. S. G. W. left Tuesday evening for Halfmoon Bay to pay an official visit to that prosperous parlor. All report having had a good time and being well entertained by the coastside parlor.

On Tuesday evening, April 28, St. Joseph Alumni Association will give a benefit card party in the grammar school auditorium. Over fifty prizes will be contributed for the occasion. The cause is a worthy one and ought to bring out a big crowd that evening.

The Native Daughters have arranged for another series of card parties, the first of which will take place on next Wednesday evening. Good prizes will be awarded. The party will take place in the Native Daughters' hall.

Wilbur Brown, a student at St. Joseph's Seminary at Los Altos, is quite ill at the Palo Alto hospital suffering from a mouth affection. The case was very serious for a while but the young man is now on the road to recovery. He is a bright student, with a strong desire to serve God as a priest. His many friends in Menlo Park hope his commendable ambition will be satisfied.

W. H. Girvin, the popular and highly efficient reporter for the superior court of San Mateo county, has leased Mrs. M. Kershaw's home on Valparaiso, near the estate of Senator S. M. Shortridge. His father was one of the pioneer lawyers and court reporters of early days in San Francisco.

The annual picnic of the Native Sons and Native Daughters will be held at the Mangini grounds on July 5. A committee from both organizations is at work making arrangements for the big event.

At a meeting of the city council an ordinance regulating subdivisions within the city limits had its first reading. Resolution of Intention 31-1 was abandoned and Resolution 31-2, covering the same improvements on Pine street and adjacent streets was adopted. Captain Whittaker of the fire department appeared before the council and agreed to burn the dry grass in vacant lots when necessary, providing two select men were given him to man the fire truck. He thought if property owners would clear the grass three feet from their dwellings there would be very little fire risk. Captain Whittaker would not accept the responsibility in case of a disastrous fire. He would have to consult the fire commissioners who would meet next week. After much discussion it was agreed that the mayor would attend the commissioners' meeting next week when an agreement would be reached. It is the desire of the council to permit the fire department handle the burning of dry grass this summer, paying for all accuring costs. Last year the council did the work under the auspices of the street superintendent. It was unsatisfactory. The council adjourned to April 21.

Suicide Rate in California Shows Increase for Year

By RUSSELL D. PENNYCOOK

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Apr. 16 (UP)—The "easiest way out" accounted for 1,509 lives in the state of California during 1930.

Economic depression according to Mr. Giles M. Porter, director of the state department of public health, caused an increase in the suicide rate in California from 24 per 100,000 population in 1929 to 26 per 100,000 population in the last year.

In San Mateo county there were 25 suicides in 1930.

"Those communities which are large labor centers where large numbers of homeless aged men congregate have the highest suicide rates", Dr. Porter said.

In his report made public today there were but four counties in which no suicides occured, Alpine, Inyou, Mono and Lake and but three cities, Bakersfield, South Pasadena and Watsonville.

"Some of the communities where ideal climatic conditions exist and where large number of penniless, advanced invalids have flocked also have large number of suicides," Dr. Porter stated.

"Most suicides occur among the large number of casual laborers who are without family or home ties. The migration of such individuals to western states is of sufficient magnitude to effect the suicide rates of the Pacific Coast states. Oregon, Washington together with California have the highest suicide rates of any states in the union.

"More than four times more men than women committed suicide in California last year, the respective number being 1,225 and 284.

"Nearly half of all suicides occur among individuals who are between 35 and 54 years of age.

"Most individuals used firearms in self destruction, with poison, poisonous gas, hanging or strangulation, and cutting or piercing by instruments are used commonly in the order named.

"There is significance in the fact that two-thirds of all suicides in California are by persons who were born in other states or in foreign countries.

The highest suicide rate reported by the department of public health occured in San Francisco county where 41.4 persons per 100,000 population ended their lives. Sacramento and San Diego counties had the next highest rates.

LANGUAGE OF OLD INDIAN NATION NEARLY EXTINCT

NORWICH, Conn., Apr. 16 (UP)—The beautiful, rhythmic tongue of a once-powerful Indian nation is virtually extinct among the last of the Mohicans.

No one among the 70 remaining on the reservation at Mohegan near here, can speak more than a few words of greeting, according to Chief Peegee Uncas, decendant of a long line of rulers who held sway in Western Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Chief Uncas believes the only Mohican who can converse freely in the tribal language is William Dick of Wisconsin, decendant of another Mohican who migrated to that state after Mohicans withdrew from the Five Nations. Dick lives at Stockbridge, named for the old home of the tribe in Massachusetts.

50 YEARS AGO

From the Times and Gazette

Beautiful weather once more.

Andrew Teague is gradually convalescing.

The skating season is ended and the rink is closed.

Professor Lawson opened his writing class in the room occupied by Mrs. Bartholomew in the public school last Tuesday night, to one of the largest classes ever formed in this place, there being fully sixty-five scholars present.

At 2 o'clock last Sunday morning this community in common with nearly all of the State, was subjected to a lively shakeup in the form of the most considerable earthquake that has been experienced for a number of years. The vibrations were from north to south and lasted for several minutes. No damage was done.

The school house had another narrow escape from burning on Tuesday morning—the second within a year. This time the fire was communicated to the wood work in Miss Murches room from an overheated stove standing too close to the wall. Mrs. Bartholomew, who was at her post early, discovered it and wounded her hands badly in extinguishing it.

The enterprising miners of the Miller & Rowley Redwood City Gold and Silver Mining and Development Company, Limited, are still at work in the well bore, but have about reached the bottom of the hole. They have had comparitively good luck this week—that is they have not been hindered by accidents. What the outcome has been no feller can find out. On Thursday the bold explorers were exceedingly smiling and somewhat festive, which led to the conclusion that they had struck it rich; but appearances are oftentimes deceitful, especially in mining affairs.

DeLaite Found Guilty; Given 6 Months Term

W. F. DeLaite, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Leland Quinlan in Runnymede last week and charged with indecent exposure on the charge of two small girls of that community, was found guilty in the court of Judge Edward I. McAuliffe on Wednesday. DeLaite pleaded not guilty to the charge but was found guilty after trial. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail. DeLaite declared that he had been drinking and had no knowledge of his actions.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED FOR THREE VAGRANTS

Three men arrested by Redwood City Officers Fogarty and Snider late Tuesday night on charges of vagrancy were given suspended sentences in the court of Judge Edward I. McAuliffe on Wednesday. The men were Bert Illingworm, peddler; Santos Perez, laborer; and Edward Castro, laborer.

Random Reflections

One of the finest tributes to Knute Rockne was the manner in which reports of his death were received in the newspaper world. . . . Hundreds of newspaper men in all sections of the nation felt a personal loss in Rockne's death and probably there were more sincere laudatory articles written about "Rock" than about any other athletic notable who ever lived. . . . Rockne was one of the few public idols who was popular with the press and many tears were shed by hardened newspaper men who usually regard the death of a notable simply as a a "good yarn." . . . The thing which endeared Rockne to newspaper men was the fact that, unlike Lindbergh, Tunny and many others who profited from publicity he never turned against newspaper men. . . . Instead of adopting the attitude of other celebrities who think they are doing a newspaper man a favor to grant him an interview, "Rock" always gave the impression that he thought newspaper men were doing him a favor by seeking information regarding himself or Notre Dame.

"Don't Take Yourself Too Seriously"

Rockne was the living example of his advice to Notre Dame players not to take themselves too seriously. "Football is a great thing as a sport," he said, "But I have never seen an all-American notice which could be traded for a square meal." . . .The public regarded Rockne as a sort of a divinity in football, but the Notre Dame mentor, himself, never appeared able to accept the public verdict. . . . He never became "big headed" over his success and was always ready to go out of his way to do a favor for a newspaper-was treated as a "big shot" when meeting Rockne.

Appreciated Newspaper Support

"The newspapers have been wonderful to Notre Dame and I want to make them feel that we appreciate it," Rockne explained when discussing this subject with the writer last fall. . . . "Rock" kept in close touch with the newspapers and frequently, when stories pleased him, took time to write personal letters thanking the authors. . . . . This attitude had a lot to do with the fact that Notre Dame was the most widely publicized football team in the country. . . . Another trait which made "Rock" popular with sport writers was his insistence that all requests for "working press" passes at Notre Dame stadium must be honored. . . .Whereas many colleges limit working press passes to a select list of papers. Rockne contended that any newspaper which desired to send a writer to cover a game should be given passes. . . . When the new Notre Dame stadium was erected, Notre Dame saw to it that the press box was the largest and finest in the country. Accommodations were provided for more than 200 writers—and there nere was a game at Notre Dame but what writers were provided with hot coffee, sandwiches. In fact if anyone desired, "Rock" would even see to it that the Notre Dame publicity department would write his story of the game!

Stanford and U. of C. Track Teams To Clash in Stanford Stadium Tomorrow

Track teams of Stanford and the University of California clash in their thirty-eighth annual dual met in the Stanford stadium tomorrow afternoon at 1:45. Although the Indians are topheavy favorites to win their eighth straigt victory over the Bears, a number of sparkling individual duels and several record breaking performances are promised.

Spud Mossman, plucky little Bear captain, who won both the mile and the two mile in the big meet last year, will probably do double duty again Saturday. His winning times last season were 4:28 and 9:51. Mossman will have to beat those marks to take two first places Saturday. Bob Brown, Cardinal miler, has done 4:27, while Paul Aebersold, Dink Templeton's two mile ace, has run the eight laps in 9:42.

In the sprints, Hec Dyer and Abe Hables of the redskins are slated to tangle with Spencer Sparks, up and coming Blue and Gold runner who placed second in both century and furlong to Frank Wykoff of the Trojans last Saturday. Sparks, Dyer, and Hables have all done 9.7 in the 100 this year and each has run close to 21 seconds in the 220.

Ben Eastman, star Cardinal sophomore, is expected to have things his own way in the quarter mile, but his teammates, Ike Hables and Maynor Shove will have to hustle to take the other two places away from Lucas and Johnson of the Bears. Julius Zellman is doped to give the Blue and Gold a first place in the half mile, although not without struggle. Dick Wright, Sam Eastman, and Walt Cooper of the reds and Wright of California will be very much in the race.

Captain Podge Smith is not expected to have much difficulty in winning both hurdles. In the highs, Al Nisbet and Jack Brugman should give the Cards second and third. Nisbets should also annex the second place in the lows.

Hank DeBerry, California's greatly improved weight man, will give the Stanford shot putting trio — Henri Laborde, Nelson Gray and George Grey—plenty of trouble. However, the Golden Bear discus throwers are not expected to place against Bob Jones, Norman McLeod and Henri Laborde.

If Pool is in form, California should win the pole vault, with Van Tress of the Bears and DeGroot of the Indians battling for second. Rice and Enright of the Blue and Gold are favored over Bob Jones and Paul Zaches, Stanford high jumpers. The broad jump appears to be fairly even, although Wally Butler and Bill Werder of the redshirts are conceded a slight edge over Smith of the Bears.

Kenneth Churchill, California's great javelin thrower, will have things his own way in the spear tossing event but Al Ray is expected to give Stanford the second place over Miles and Hunt.

The relay should go to the great Cardinal quartet of Ben Eastman, Ike Hables, Maynor Shove and Jim Howell.

Records in the 100, 220, 440, two mile, pole vault, javelin, and relay are all in danger and any one or all of them may go by the boards.

Eagles To Meet Halfmoon Team

Harry Bourqin will take his Redwood City Eagles across the mountains to Half Moon Bay Sunday to play the "Artichoke Growers." The coastside team is said to be a strong one this year and a close and interesting game is anticipated. The Eagles demonstrated to the local fans last Sunday that they have an aggregation that compares favorably to any amateur team about the bay district. Bourquin's team had little difficulty in winning from the fast Foster Lunch club of San Francisco Sunday.

Hatley, who went the entire round for the Eagles, will be on the mound again at Half Moon Bay, with Allain at the receiving end. The rest of the lineup will be the same.

Stanford and U. C. To Play 3rd Season Game

With the championship of the California Inter-collegiate Baseball Association at stake, diamond nines of Stanford and California meet for the third game of their annual series at Stanford Saturday afternoon at 3:15, immediately after the Big Meet.

Although the Cardinals have already won the series title by taking the first two games, 3-2 and 9-1, Saturday's contest should be a thriller. Norm Horner, who prior to this season, had not lost a game to Stanford in two years, will doubtless occupy the mound for the Bears. Dan Johnson, the Indian's star sophomore hurler, who won the first two games from the Blue and Gold, will again be on the firing line.

Cherokees Will Meet Palo Alto This Afternoon

Two Teams Will Clash On Sequoia Diamond

Coach Len Casanova will send his Sequoia Union high school varsity baseball squad against the Palo Alto high diamond artists on the Sequoia diamond this afternoon with the hope of bringing it back into a threatening position with the league leaders.

Wednesday afternoon the Cherokees played off a postponed game with Burlingame high and came out on the short end of a 8 to 3 score. The Cherokees made numerous errors during the encounter and these were reported responsible for their defeat.

The Cherokees now face Palo Alto this afternoon with two victories and three defeats on their Peninsula Athletic League record for this season. The Vikings now have three victories and two defeats, and the Indians will be out to even up the count.

Coach Casanova will probably start a team composed of the following: Captain Cullen, Langbehn, Jelich, LeRoy, McGuire, Hoffman, Garcia, Tognoli, and Preader.

Moose Ball Team Being Formed Here

A baseball team is being formed here by Redwood Lodge Loyal Order of Moose. The committee in charge of the formation of the team are H. Botill, T. Williamson, and Henry K. Kohnen. The first game will be played by the new team at 10:30 Sunday morning at the Sequoia High School diamond. This game will be between the married and the single men.

The game will be umpired by Judge Edward Farrell of South San Francisco.

Sequoia Swimmers .. Face Two Contests

After defeating Balboa high school 76 to 21, the Sequoia Union high school varsity swimming team will face two more contests this week. This afternoon the Cherokees encounter the Polytechnic high school in the Sequoia pool and Saturday face the strong Alameda high school mermen.

Against Balboa high the Cherokees were slowed up considerably by the water, but Martin and Goldthwait turned in good times. This meet was held Wednesday afternoon in the San Francisco pool.

Alameda high school will be one of the biggest hurdles that the Cherokees have had to surmount this year. The Alameda high squad won the North Coast Section last year and should give the Cherokees a tough race.

Coach Jim Eva will have his usual dependable swimmers to call on for first in Goldthwaite, Worrell, and Martin.

Sports Night To Be Novel School Event

Cage Team of Ten Years Ago To Meet 1931 Varsity As One Event

Featuring a basketball game between the 1921 varsity and the 1931 varsity hoopsters, Sports Night will be staged this evening in the boys' gymnasium at Sequoia Union high school. Te Sequoia Block "S" Society is sponsoring the program under the direction of Richard Martin, president of the organization.

Members of the 1921 varsity will appear on the court in made-to-order khaki suits and knee-length stockings.

Captain "Mule" Robertson will again lead the '21 team composed of Britschgi and Lodi, forwards; Robertson, center; DeLuchi and Cofiori, guards. Louis "Wang" Lodi has a specially constructed uniform to cover his 332 pound body. He will be back in his old forward position.

Coach Frank Griffin will have his regular 1931 varsity on the floor for the game, including Al Langbehn and Captain Leo LeRoy, forwards; Bob Alber, center; and Jens Bugge and Paul Silva, guards.

Lloyd Leitr, who is well known at Sequoia, having refereed a number of basketball contests during the past year, is bringing down 24 boys from his class at Presidio Junior high school for the tumbler benefit. There will be parallel bar stunts, pyramid building, clog dancing, and tumbling during the half-hour program.

Merlin Stokes and Roger Lintner, who have appeared before in programs at Sequoia, will present a nevelty mind-reading skit. There will also be music by an orchestra to complete this evening's program.

Frank Griffin, faculty advisor of the society, Murray Studley, and Ed Wickstrom are assisting Martin in arrangements for the program. The proceeds of the tickets, which are selling for 25 cents will go toward the athletic injury fund.

Cherokee Cinderman Bring Home Victory

Sequoia Union high school's varsity track and field team defeated the Hayward unlimited cindermen 60 to 53 on the Hayward track last Wednesday afternoon.

The Cherokee cindermen made clean sweeps of places in the broad jump and shot put, and took first and second position in the discuss. The Cherokees also captured first in the 10-yard dash, in the 880, high hurdles, and 440 dash.

Dale Childers, captain of the lightweight track team last year, scored 19 points to be high-point man of the meet. He won the shot, discus, high hurdles, and tied for first with Barnes in the broad jump.

Jack Franklin captured the 100-yard dash, 440, and tied for first in the 220. Barnes tied for first in the broad jump and placed in the low hurdles.

Redwood Team Will Meet Excelsiors

The opening game on the home grounds in the Peninsula Baseball League will be formally celebrated next Sunday afternoon, when Herm Fleishman's Redwood City team meets the Excelsior Merchants of San Francisco on the Sequoia diamond at 2:30 o'clock. Mayor Stafford, City Manager E. A. Rolison, Chief of Police C. L. Collins and other dignitaries will take part in the ceremonies to be started preceding the game. Featuring the celebration will be a parade through the down-town business section, led by the drum corps of Redwood City Post No. 105, American Legion.

Redwood City lost its opening game in the league last Sunday at Palo Alto, being defeated by the Black Sox of the College Town by a score of 8 to 3. Manager Fleishman is confident of making a better showing before the local fans next Sunday. He will have practically the same line-up as last Sunday with Wedell and Espinosa as pitchers, Johnson as catcher, Brook, Nelson, Haruff and Dempsey in the infield and Lawlor, Herm and Stephens in the outer garden.

The Excelsior Merchants, playing under the name of the Ferreera Hardware team last year, were runners-up in the Peninsula League. This will be their first game in the league, they having remained idle last year.

Everett made the 880-yard run in easy time, while Davis took a first place in the javlin and Yancey tied for first in the high jump at the height of five feet seven.

Coach Ray Dimick was satisfied with the showing of the varsity and is lining up more practice meets.

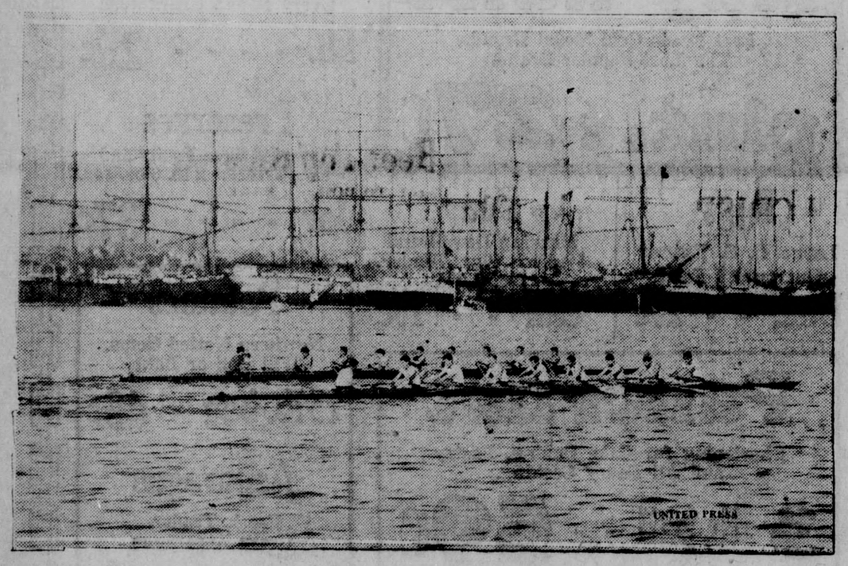
WHEN THE WINNERS TOOK THE LEAD



After lagging behind for the first part of the race the Washington Huskies quickly took advantage when the California crew faltered at the mile and eighth mark, and swept into a narrow lead which they gradually increased to a full half-length, and won the race. Both teams rowed the three miles in record time, the Huskies finishing in 14 minutes 53 4-5 seconds. The old record, made by Washington in 1925, was 15 minutes 9 seconds.

Humane Society Holds Monthly Meet

The Redwood City Humane Society met at the home of the president, Mrs. John E. Ryan on Arlington road, Tuesday afternoon, for its regular monthly meeting.

Reports were read by the committees and progress noted in the work of alleviating the distress of sick and suffering animals. A competent veterinary is available at all times and a phone call to any of the members of the society will be answered immediately. All complaints are investigated and handled in a very quiet manner.

The society is planning to cooperate with the Yomecans in their Pet and Hobby Show to be held on the McKinley school grounds on April 25th.

Entry blanks may be obtained at all the schools or from Mr. Norbert Lambert, president of the Yomecans; Mrs. John E. Ryan, president of the Humane Society; or the Tribune office. Children under 17 years of age may participate and the blanks must be turned in not later than April 20.

Many silver trophies are being donated for the show; the city of Redwood City and the Pet Shop in San Carlos being among the donors.

Animals will be judged according to condition and health and not by pedigree. All the exhibits will be inspected before being shown by Dr. Turner, veterinarian.

The judges are Mr. Dan Shuttleworth of Beresford, Mrs. Florence Mack of Burlingame and Dr. Turner, veterinarian.

The primary and grammar schools are holding a poster contest for the pet and hobby show, the winners to be announced later.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

IttakesthosegoodoldCARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

Daddy of All Dobbins Bones Found in Idaho

Believed To Have Roamed Country Million Years Ago

WASHINGTON, Apr. 16 (UP)—A unique horse round-up with pick and shovel instead of lariat is reported by James W. Gidley of the Smithsonian Institution, who led a party of scientific wranglers in to the Snake River Valley of Idaho.

The principal find of the expedition was Plesippus, a distant relative of Old Dobbin. Plesippus, Gidley says in his report, is the link between the horse of the present day and the three-toed horse of extremely ancient times. He estimates the Plesippus was roaming the Snake River country not less than 1,000,000 years ago.

Pioneers Used Site

Gidley's expedition camped near a Snake river ford often used by wagon trains in the days when pioneers were pushing westward.

"It was their custom," says the report, "to divide their wagon trains at the Snake River, taking one-half up the first five miles of the heavy climb to the top of the divide and leaving them there for the night while the oxen, or horses, were taken back to the river to bring on the remainder of the wagons early the next morning, when the journey was resumed.

Defense Weakened

"The necessity of breaking up the wagon trains at this point naturally weakened their defense against Indians. This fact evidently was recognized and taken advantage of by the latter, for it was here some of the most successful attacks were made. Mute evidence of the tragedy still is perceptible in the form of occasional pieces of wagon irons that may be found scattered through the sage brush near the top of the hill."

Horses and relics of pioneer caravans properly would be associated with the Idaho country, but Gidley found remains not often thought of in connection with this continent. There was a mastodon, two species of camel and a ground sloth and study of the find convinced Gidley the deposits belonged to the Upper Pliocene period which just preceded the Ice Age.

State Aims at Lead In Milk Production

Elimination of Tuberculosis Sought in Effort To Put State Ahead

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Apr. 16 (UP)—California, producer of the purest milk in the United States.

That's the goal toward which the state department of agriculture is striving, through an intensive campaign of tuberculosis eradication among dairy herds of the state.

Last year the voters of California approved a measure by which the state will reimburse livestock owners for cattle killed in ridding the herds of tuberculosis.

Governor Rolph's biennial budget provides a fund of $530,00 for this purpose, with more to come later. Uncle Sam is spending an additional $500,000.

Approximately 80 per cent of the dairy herds in California are already free from tuberculosis, according to the state department of agriculture.

During the last 5 years the number of animals tested under the Pure Milk Law has more than doubled, reaching a total this year of 213,749 cattle. There have been 1,343 animals tested in San Mateo county, of which 57 reactors were found.

"This increase is due largely to many cities and some counties having passed ordinances requiring all of their milk supply come from cows free of tuberculosis," said the department's annual report.

The "area plan" of tuberculosis eradication was launched in California by a legislative act of 1921. Modoc county was the first to adopt the program, followed later by Lassen, Plumas, Tehama, Shasta and Siskiyou, making a solid group of six counties in the northern part of the state.

Details of the plan have been requested by Lake county's board of supervisors, and indications are that Santa Cruz, Butte and Ventura counties will join the movement.

Livestock owners recognize the value of the area plan, which maintains all the cattle in their county free from the disease. The salability of surplus stock is increased and values greatly enhanced. There is a considerable demand for free areas. The total saving resulting from this plan has amounted to nearly $2,000,000 the last four years, and the program has proved to be a sound and profitable one for the livestock industry.

Huge X-Ray Tube Makes Radium Rays

By LEICESTER WAGNER

PASADENA, Cal., April 16 (UP)—An X-ray tube generating artificial radium rays equal to that given off by the entire world's supply of the rare element has been placed in operation at the California Institute of Technology, where it is being used for treatment.

The tube is the second of 1,000,000-volt capacity to be constructed by Dr. C. C. Lauritsen of the institute. So successful was the first in treating cancer and other growths, that the second was built so that the original mechanism might be used in further experimental work.

The value of the rays to medical science is immeasurable. Dr. Lauritsen declared after the board of surgeons had decided to continue the work with the giant tube.

For if its rays are equal to those which would be generated were the world's supply of radium massed in one spot, it is easy to see, he said, that man has at least artificially at a cost of only a few thousand dollars, where the radium is roughly valuated at $12,000,000.

Although the capacity of the tube is 1,000,000 volts, it is being used only at a rate of 600,000 volts on its human patients, which, however, is nearly triple the intensity formerly used.

So potent are the rays that they are capable of penetrating any part of the body, instead of being restricted to surface growths, Dr. Lauritsen said.

Experiments with the first million-volt tube have been under way for several months, with eight of California's leading radiologists and surgeons supervising the work.

Dr. Lauritsen sees the day not far off when every major hospital of the country will be equipped with one of the tubes at small cost, where few of them now have any supply of radium.

New Essentials Needed in Diet

BALTIMORE, Md., April 16 (UP)—Diet is becoming more complicated annually.

Research on nutrition is increasing the known number of essential articles of diet at the rate of one or two a year and Dr. E. V. McCollum of John Hopkins Hospital now estimates there are 37 substances which must be included in food to meet body requirements.

McCollum suspects further research will discover additional essentials. But he says so far as is known now the 37 substances mixed in proper proportion would make an ideal diet. Anyone desiring to sample the ideal body and brain building meal should first assertain the correct proportions and then obtain:

A protein which in the starch breaks down into 20 so-called essential vinnoacids of which 18 cannot be produced by the body itself and which must, therefore, be obtained in food or drink.
